UNEDITED! UNRESTRICTED!! UNCENSORED!!!

“A person with ubuntu is open and available to others, affirming of others, does not feel threatened that others are able and good, for he or she has a proper self-assurance that comes from knowing that he or she belongs in a greater whole and is diminished when others are humiliated or diminished, when others are tortured or oppressed.”

Desmond Tutu

“I alone cannot change the world, but I can cast a stone across the waters to create many ripples.”

Mother Teresa

“Men are free when they are obeying some deep, inward voice of religious belief. Obeying from within. Men are free when they belong to a living, organic, believing community, active in fulfilling some unfulfilled, perhaps unrealized purpose. Not when they are escaping to some wild west. The most unfree souls go west, and shout of freedom.”

D.H. Lawrence

Additional Boulder Transportation Resources

We do have a new transportation system with a terrific bus that leaves from our local bus station on Walnut Street about 10 blocks west of hotel (super comfy ride) for $9.00 ticket bought inside the bus station. During peak times it can get full, so get your ticket early. Leaves 20 minutes after the hour and takes 45-50 minutes. It's the A/B bus to and from DIA to Boulder. Google and you shall find. Gets right to airport, up escalators to check in area. Also, catching it at airport is same time—20 minutes after the hour.

Uber/taxi/Lift is approx $3.00 from hotel to bus station and then the bus.....it's a comfortable ride—not a stand up city bus ride.

I wonder whether anyone else has checked out Green Ride transportation. They run between Denver Int. Airport and Boulder and are much less expensive than Boulder Transport.

Trauma, Dissociation, and the Soul A Certificate Training Program

A Limited-Enrollment Intensive for Clinicians With Donald Kalsched, Ph.D.

At Pacifica Graduate Institute, Santa Barbara California
Three Four-Day Sessions in 2017-2018
(November 1-5, January 8-11, February 28--March 4)

This program is an opportunity for clinicians from a variety of disciplines to explore the clinical, theoretical, and symbolic/spiritual dimensions of Donald Kalsched's model of the inner world of trauma and its archetypal defenses of the imperishable personal spirit or soul - as described in his two books, many articles, and four decades of Jungian analytic practice. This understanding of dissociative structure, described as the Self-Care-System (SCS), holds open the possibility of a new way of thinking about the symbolic processes in trauma as they open a window into the mystical dimensions of existence, a new way of understanding other contemporary dissociative models of the mind, and a new way of envisioning the unique contribution of Jungian Depth Psychology to modern clinical practice.

In each of the three extended sessions of the program, different facets of the model and its implications for understanding and healing trauma, while restoring the soul to embodied life, will be discussed. Film-clips will be used throughout as illustrations, and assigned reading between sessions will add important developmental background, especially in the areas of infant observation, attachment theory, and affective neuroscience. The program will take place on the Ladera Campus of Pacifica Graduate Institute in Santa Barbara, California. Housing for all participants is offered in the Retreat Facilities of Pacifica Graduate Institute.

- First Session—Mapping the System Through Dreams, Transference, and Film
- Second Session—Transactional Pathology and Treatment Approaches
- Third Session: Mystical Dimensions of Psychotherapy with Trauma Survivors

SANTA FE SUMMER INTENSIVE
JUNE 2-4, 2017
HOTEL SANTA FE, SANTA FE

NEW MEXICO

Brian Feldman, Ph.D., will coordinate the weekend intensive with an emphasis on: Attachment, Infant Observation and Infant Research: Their Impact upon the Practice of Contemporary Jungian Psychoanalysis

The weekend intensive will focus on the impact of attachment theory, infant observation and infant research upon the practice of contemporary Jungian psychoanalysis with child, adolescents and adults. A particular focus will be directed at the use of the analytical transference/countertransference when working with infantile/primitive mental states as well as upon work with symbolic material. Symbolic processes as expressed via dreams, active imagination, and sandplay are often an important component of healing early trauma in analysis and will be an integral focus of the seminar. The development of the psychic skin as a container of symbolic/emotional experience and the impact of culture upon the developing psyche/soma will also be discussed. Participants will be able to present clinical cases and readings will be provided that expand upon both theory and clinical practice.

Brian Feldman is a certified child, adolescent, and adult Jungian psychoanalyst and infant observation seminar trainer (AIDOB). He holds visiting professorships at the State University of Humanitarian Sciences in Moscow and the City University of Macau. He is the IAAP liaison person for the Macau Developing Group. He is a member of the Jung Institute of San Francisco and the IRSJA.

Journal of Analytical Psychology XIVth International Conference

Dissociation: Trauma and the Self

Thursday 20 April - Sunday 23 April 2017
The Roosevelt Hotel, New York City

A reminder that you are cordially invited to join us in downtown Manhattan for our XIVth international residential conference: its theme of dissociation has both a rich Jungian history and a general contemporary pertinence.

Time is running out to register!

“He is among those beings of great scope who spread their leafy branches willingly over broad horizons. To be a man is, precisely, to be responsible. It is to know shame at the sight of poverty which is not of our making. It is to be proud of a victory won by our comrades. It is to feel, as we place our stone, that we are contributing to the building of the world.”
