

Readings by Jungian authors on racism, cultural complexes, and diversity issues.

Brewster, F. (2017). African Americans and Jungian psychology: Leaving the shadows. Abingdon & New York: Routledge.

Brewster, F. (2020). The racial complex: A Jungian perspective on culture and race. Abingdon & New York: Routledge.

Calland, R. (2019). Race, power and intimacy in the intersubjective field: the intersection of racialized cultural complexes and personal complexes. Journal of Analytical Psychology, 64,3,367-385.

Carter, C.J. (2021). Time for space at the table: an African American – Native American analyst-in-training's first-hand reflections. A call for the IAAP to publicly denounce (but not erase) the white supremacist writings of C.G. Jung. Journal of Analytical Psychology, 66, 1, 70–92.

Cunningham, R.M. (2018). The march from Selma to Montgomery and the nonviolent movement in analysis, Psychological Perspectives, 61:3, 331-343, DOI: 10.1080/00332925.2018.1495512

Hernandez, L.(2021). Racial and cultural in-betweenness meet in the consulting room: the case of "Anna". Journal of Analytical Psychology, 66,3,644-664.

Kimbles, S. (2014). Phantom narratives: The unseen contributions of culture to psyche. Lanham, Maryland: Rowman & Littlefield.

Kimbles, S. (2021). Intergenerational complexes in analytical psychology: The suffering of ghosts. Abingdon & New York: Routledge.

Singer, T. & Kimbles, S. (Eds).(2004). The cultural complex: contemporary perspectives on psyche and society. East Sussex & New York: Brunner-Routledge.